

Memory Enhancer

I started this essence a few years ago, but at that time, it did not seem to merit/produce any degree of significant success in its application. However with the arrival of moonchild, this essence may have a significant part to play in the early stages of memory loss syndromes including student stress, senile changes and the complex of memory disease associated with aging.

The complex of essences consists of Moonchild, Serene Overview, Liberation/Deception and Positive Outcome.

The characteristics of the individual essences are listed in the book, notes and the flyer, however in summary:

Moonchild: has the affinity to explore untapped regions of the memory space and release the access areas of the brain transferring relevant data to the storage areas of the brain, so increasing the capacity to hold data with clarity.

Serene Overview: enhances the effect of moonchild so that one can take a balanced view of the spiritual nature of the soul and the mind. A more feminine aspect to the essence reduces the aggression of the male ego, so allowing unstressed mental activity.

Liberation/Deception: This essence at one level provides upward strength, and helps to cleanse/protect the aura, and at another level its subtle nature (similar to necklace of beauty) allows one to accept ones inner beauty and therefore discernment, about that which we should remember!

Positive Outcome: maintains dynamic optimism and enhanced mental stamina. The goal of any project is not out of sight, so the degree of concentration is increased.

So far the combination appears to increase mental acuity, perception, reduction in stress associated with fear of loss of mental function, and the general sense of calm and fortitude which by reducing stress will allow increased clarity of mental activity.
