

Winged Messenger

This beautiful essence is derived from Bulbophyllum frostii, as you can see from the photograph the flowers look like slippers with wings at the heels.

The first image I got after viewing the photograph was of a young male (androgynous) with black curly hair, wearing a metal helmet with wings on its side, and he had wings on his ankles as well, the image of Hermes, one of the Greek gods, He was standing in the pose of Venus?? With his right arm over his heart chakra. Looking down at people sitting in front of him, the striking feature of the image is that though male it exhibited female characteristics?

It was obvious that he had descended on a slide from somewhere far away and there was a sense of two complex strands one gold and silver intertwined like the root of the DNA Helix. It had enormous sense of compassion for the human race, and it was the carrier of a deeper sense of wellbeing which we have rarely touched in the evolution of these new orchid essences. Why winged Messenger it is as if there is sense of [purpose in the two strands of the journey that unfolds with this essence it is A Ying and Yang essence, there is the feeling that one is on the yellow Brick Road (poor analogies) But with a sense of excitement and exhilaration

This orchid forms the base of the pyramid of essences which are the master essences of the orchid series the exact nature of this pyramidal structure will be elaborated in due course.

I give you two sets of observations on the nature of the essence from the initial prover's experiences:

An immediate burst of heat spreading down as far as the bottom of my rib cage, through my solar plexus, the heat intensifying, the excitement building and rising upwards and outwards...my tummy doing somersaults.

Feeling utterly thrilled.

Energy and excitement spreading upwards to my temples...a quiet Mona Lisa smile reaching the corners of my mouth.

A shy tingling sensation winding downwards through my hips, filtering through my legs coating my feet with sparkly smiling new shoes which will take me on my new adventures. A sense of eagerness replaces the reluctance...de-paralysing me. I hear the Gracie Fields song "Wish me luck as you wave me goodbye, cheerio here I go on my way, with a cheer not a tear..."

This is the joyous step forward through the looking glass after the being hauled through the rabbit hole...emotionally stripped back to the bare bones... Wide eyed in anticipation as I prepare to set off on a most excellent adventure, with my spotted hankie tied to a stick, I have what I need to set off and boy, am I going to enjoy this! This feels like a wormhole channel straight back to the childlike excitement I left behind at 4 years old...the part which was lost and needed to connect with the adult 35 years on..Another highly important reconnection to further my development.

This is Puss in Boots, The Elves and the Shoe Maker, Snow White....Hey ho hey ho it's off to work we go!!(This is still with me after 18 or so hours, may this continue through the rest of my life!) I also feel that this energy is going to aid me to really connect with people in an uncomplicated way...when we were little we made friends easily because we liked the same colour, then you get older and more complicated and it becomes more difficult...conditions start coming in, too many words and over thinking clouds the picture. oh, I can't stop singing either and I really couldn't give a jot if my voice isn't so good...I kind of think the fact that my concern isn't there could well improve its quality...this is giving me quiet courage to go for it. I think this may well be my favourite orchid...it's a darling.

The 2nd experience is no less striking and is as follows:

Wholeness, integrated, aligned, harmonised. I had almost no visuals with this one just a huge physical effect. My skin started tingling all over my body (it is still tingling, particularly in the feet and it's an hour and a half since I took the drops). The tingling feels wonderful, it goes on and on. I sit straighter in the chair and have to force my shoulders back to expand the upper chest area between them. When the energy goes inside it drops straight to the heart and makes me smile! This feels good, joyous. The energy drops down to the ground. All this time I still feel tingling although it is now much more noticeable in the feet and heart area. It is so hot it is almost burning. I feel this essence is moving my awareness away from just my head to encompass my entire body. This way I am more grounded and incarnate.

I get some visuals of a deer. It is just standing still and looking at me. The next picture is of a deer like animal with curved, ringlet style horns – this is a stunningly beautiful creature. I am struck by the beauty of the flow of lines from the curved horn down to the face – there is a flow in it – very arty. It is perhaps a mythical creature. I can hear the song by Adele called “Someone like you”. It is a gentle, caring song about wishing someone well in life. Also I feel it would be a good essence to help you manifest your goals as it makes you really grounded and in a heart space first. Also, because of the tingling and heat I experienced I wonder if it will help with circulation. Mainly this essence leaves you awake and in the present moment with a sense of joy and lightness. I love it!

Another intuitive saw a different image from the essence as follows:

First, I needed my neck stretched. It was pulling my neck upwards, and I felt like my neck very long and my Alta major point was cleaned.

Then, I saw dwarfs (Disney's 7 dwarfs) coming home. They opened the small door near the tree trunk, with moss around it, they went into their house.

They cleaned their room, by putting lots of boxes up on the shelf near the roof.

Then they sat on the chair of the long table, one of them started walking funny, lifted up their foot up, showed me their shoes and face close up. It looked like they were entertaining themselves. And they and they were having a good time.

I saw a night sky, and a big star was shining beautifully. I saw Milky Way, it moved like an aurora. I was watching diamonds like stars for a while - Beautiful! Then a pin-point short pain came on my right side rib. I received one of the diamonds there???

Next, I saw a racoon dog walking like a man (again just like a cartoon), the diamond hit his tummy looking up the night sky. I saw a big beautiful full moon. (Racoon dog and full moon often comes together in the Japanese old stories for children.)

And last but not least one of the provers who is quite sentient and has a strong poetic licence describes the essence as follows:

When Little Flowers speak to me
With dancing shoes toed with glee
Skipping lightly into them
A magical journey back from hell
Stepping out upon your path
Obstacles, tangles, part of wrath
Rack to ruin, stumble, and fall
Never a failure when given all
Tried your best and no result
Tears 'n' toil add to insult
Stumbling, fumbling to find your way
Cue for us to enter fray
Enchanted boots speckled wine 'n' gold
Enchanted routes to earth unfold
A lost connection, strength renewed
Magical secrets to you imbued
With slippers fastened to the earth
A new connection, a true rebirth
The plant kingdom has always known
Lost Adam & Eve, Eden thrown
Now the time has come to shine
To reconnect to the mother shrine
The Divine Feminine inside of you
Rekindles youth, a life that's true
Our message is about rekindled youth
About finding your way to your truth
Enthusiasm sparkles a newfound strength
Allows you stretch that extra length
Stretch, expand, elasticate
Fed new ideas, now masticate
Ponder, chew, and spit out the chaff
Allow the simplicity make you laugh
Simple truth's where it's all found
When you tap into this hallowed ground
That what makes you really tick

Enchantment renews as our shoes click click.
Behind the fortress is a citadel of light
A learned place where thought takes flight
Elliptical loops as electrons spin
A universe of truth, yours to take in.
Magical truths and ivory gleam
Ganesh's tusk task pathway clean
A grounding force, sure footed step
Enchanted music gives you pep.
Assuredness, knowing you're on your way
Slip on our shoes to a brand new day
Closing gates to chaff and strife
Assuredness now entering life
Citadel of light within is found
Golden Christ light embalms the ground
Tapping into this eternal source
Steers you on your truth bound course.

This poem and the statement of the other proverbs all point to the nature of the essence as an enhancing and invigorating essence which imbues Joy in the partaker. The physical effects are in grounding and centering, cleansing and clarifying as well as nurturing the soul journey from the shades of Hades to heaven. However if one is not clearly within the defined path, then the essence raises questions in the subconscious, and makes one uneasy as to the nature of the quest, the Joy that comes from the essence is the knowing/certainty of the ultimate quest on the souls journey
